WELCOME

The content of this brochure gives an insight into a much bigger story. London's diverse and vibrant population powers 24,000 voluntary organisations. That is 1 for every 360 Londoners. Many of these initiatives are working through values shared by people of different faiths and non-religious beliefs. This is worthy of celebration in itself, since it demonstrates how much we have in common. It underlines the notion that our diversity is not the problem we face.

The work of those highlighted in this brochure demonstrates the deep, generous pool of diverse creativity that Londoners can draw on to tackle a wide range of societal issues. And herein lies the second cause for celebration. The projects on show here are tackling issues that have the potential to exclude and divide. If we are to truly extend the benefits of our city to all, then we need to ensure that all Londoners get fair access to services, we need to alleviate deprivation, reduce social tension and promote inclusion. This year we also celebrate those who inspire the next generation of Londoners. The fact that so many relatively small and modest organisations made up of people of different faiths and non-religious beliefs collaborate to achieve these aims gives hope and inspiration. This evening we are recognising and celebrating the contribution lesser-known projects are making to ensuring London is a more inclusive and a fairer city.

We are honoured to host the second London Faith & Belief Community Awards with the continued support of Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith, to shine a light on those who do not receive sufficient recognition for the important work they do at the margins of our great city. We are proud that now over 200 projects and individuals have been recognised for their selfless work. May the examples of these inspiring projects motivate and challenge us.

Phil Champain

Director of the Faith & Belief Forum

MESSAGES OF SUPPORT

I wish to extend a warm welcome to all to the London Faith & Belief Community Awards. As the Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London, I am Her Majesty The Queen's representative in Greater London, charged with upholding the dignity of the Crown. I have over 100 Deputy Lieutenants, who, like me, are volunteers. I have 32 Representative Deputy Lieutenants, one for each London Borough, providing a vital link with local communities across the capital.

In addition, we are a bridge-builder, connecting individuals, organisations and social networks, to enhance Londoners' sense of belonging and thereby increasing social inclusion within the capital. Through its rich heritage and diverse population, London is home to many faith groups from every religion. As The Queen said in her 50th Christmas broadcast in 2001: 'we all have something to learn from each other, whatever our faith', because living life according to a strong set of positive values is an antidote to exclusion. Overcoming differences and misunderstandings, reducing prejudice, ignorance and fear, and learning the ethical lessons of the widest range of faiths and beliefs are objectives enshrined in our strategy Building Bridges for a fairer London. In that spirit, we recognise and celebrate the work of Londoners from all faiths and beliefs who create a sense of belonging and inclusion in our great city. Thank you to you all.

Sir Kenneth Olisa OBE

The Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London

In terms of diversity of background and culture, London is one of the richest cities in the world. It boasts many sizable communities coming from every corner of the globe. For many of these communities, their faith or belief is their cultural fountain and a source of their identity – representing universal core principles that are shared across all faith and belief systems. Our aspiration at the Council on Faith is to harness these values and reach out to all of those who have made London their home. By supporting the London Faith & Belief Community Awards, we gain the opportunity to meet and engage with those who have made it their mission to increase wellbeing within their local community, help individuals build a sense of belonging within London and build bridges across communities of all faiths and beliefs. The London Faith & Belief Community Awards is a wonderful demonstration of what people motivated by their faith or belief can achieve for this city. By shining a light on their work, this event promotes and connects the unsung heroes of London's faith and belief communities. This event also gives them access to further support which may enhance their work and inspire others to take action.

At last year's event we were bowled over by the number of inspirational dedicated selfless people we came across who are doing the most amazing and innovative things. It was an honour to meet those behind London's inspirational community projects and learn from their work. I look forward to continuing the conversation this year.

The London Faith & Belief Community Awards is primarily about celebration and recognition, and I am honoured that tonight we have the opportunity to celebrate over 120 projects and individuals. On behalf of Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith, I look forward to supporting this event further and to meeting many more of London's unsung heroes as the initiative grows.

Dr David Dangoor DL

Chair of Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith

It has been a pleasure for me to be Chair of the Judging Panel. The panel comprised of three members of the Council on Faith: Dr Sheila Gewolb DL, Dr Mustafa Abu Lisan DL and me, joined by Phil Champain, Hannah Taylor and Tim Mortimer from F&BF.

The judging panel received 122 completed nominations by the deadline of 16th July 2018. We had a week to scrutinise the nomination forms and complete a judging grid. The grid assessed each submission on three criteria based on increasing sense of belonging, building bridges and impact.

The judging panel met on 3rd September 2018 and discussed each submission against the criteria.

It was a humbling and enlightening experience to read and discuss the nomination forms. The projects were diverse, from across most London boroughs and helping different groups. There was great uniformity amongst the 6 judges. We were able to agree the 42 projects to be awarded £500 and the 66 projects to be awarded a certificate of recognition for their good work. The nominations this year also identified 16 individuals, encouraging us to create a new award category – Inspiring Individuals – and tonight we will be awarding their work through certification.

I would like to thank my fellow judges for their hard work and support. Congratulations to all who are celebrated and recognised at tonight's event.

Mrs Bushra Nasir CBE DL
Chair of the Judging Panel

CREATIVE ARTS AND THE MEDIA

Arts and the media have the power both to communicate experiences of exclusion and belonging, and to reshape our relationships with each other. Projects within this category work with the arts or the media to explore the complexities of identity and belief and to deepen understanding.

MUJU

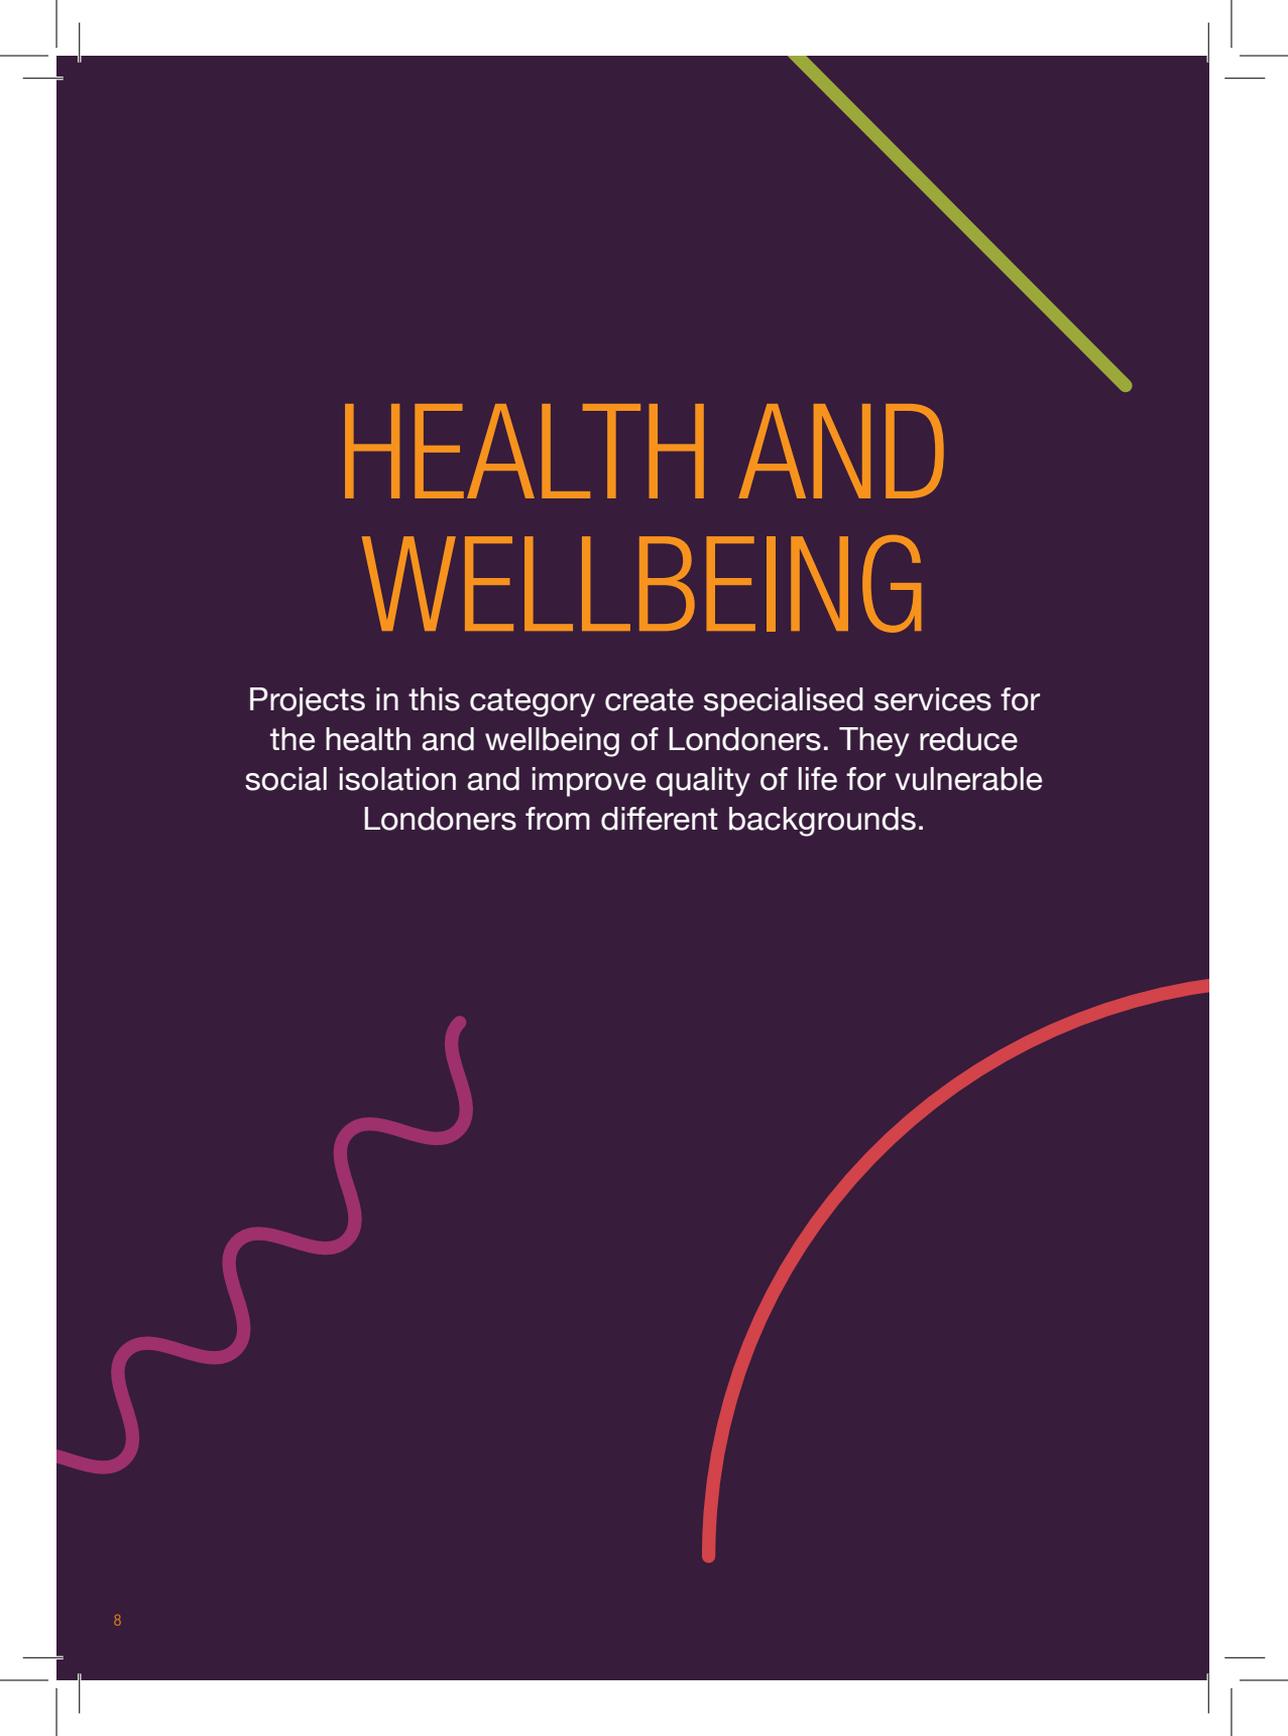

Brent

The MUJU Crew bring Muslims and Jews together through a shared passion for creating art. We believe this process creates a context of honesty, trust and respect that breaks down barriers and allows for open conversations. Most recently, MUJU have led workshops with new artists at the Young Vic, created sell out shows across London and developed a series of online sketches addressing the similarities between the two communities, reaching over one million viewers online.

Embracing Age

Embracing Age

Richmond upon Thames

We are a Christian charity set up 3 years ago to address the needs of the frail elderly, particularly care home residents. Our team of 60 volunteers find out the interests of residents and tailor activities accordingly. It may simply be spending an hour a week chatting with a resident, going for a walk, or reading to a resident - any meaningful activity that a resident will enjoy, and helps to build friendship.

Muslim Women Merton

Muslim Women Merton

Merton

Many BAME women face significant health inequalities. To address this disparity Muslim Women of Merton developed health and wellbeing initiatives raising awareness of the key issues and organised health promotion events and activities for the community. Our volunteers have also been trained as Health Champions by One You Merton, so they can offer health activities supporting the community. Our volunteers have introduced a weekly health walk, a coffee morning, where ladies enjoy exercise and chat.

INSPIRING YOUTH

Young people from minority backgrounds are often overlooked and may be excluded from civic life. Projects within this category work with young people to encourage leadership and participation in their local community, and connect them with opportunities beyond their neighbourhoods.

Ebony Horse Club

Anti-Tribalism Movement

Hammersmith and Fulham

Our 'Quit Knives Saves Lives Desistance Programme' is a much-needed programme as we have seen a spike in the anti-social behaviour affecting young Somali men living in London. Our programme provides mentoring support to young black men, reaches out to parents and families of young people who are already engaged in offending behaviour and brings together those most impacted to take part in dialogue.

theatm.org

Ebony Horse Club

Lambeth

Ebony Horse Club was founded in 1996 to provide opportunities for children and young people growing up in the inner city, specifically Brixton, South London, to learn to ride and care for horses. Interacting with horses teaches young people empathy, responsibility, determination and improves their health and wellbeing. The centre provides them with a safe place to be in an area rife with gang and drug culture.

PROMOTING INCLUSION

Sponsored by Saker Nusseibeh

Londoners may face misunderstanding, isolation or exclusion because of their faith or belief. They may be further excluded, due to other aspects of their identities (e.g. ethnicity, gender, sexuality, class, age and ability) – and this discrimination may take place within faith groups or wider society. Projects within this category work at the intersection between faith/belief and other aspects of identity – creating inclusive spaces.

Abraham's Tent Project at South London Liberal Synagogue

Lambeth

The Abraham's Tent Project is converting part of the South London Liberal Synagogue building into a home for a refugee family. The project is named after Abraham's Tent, which according to biblical stories was open on all sides so he could welcome strangers from any direction. We're partnering with Liberal Judaism, West London Synagogue, and local religious and non-religious groups in an exciting interfaith collaboration to support the family when they arrive through community sponsorship.

INSPIRATIONAL INDIVIDUALS

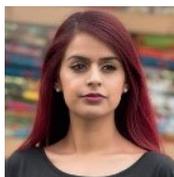

London is full of inspirational individuals, people who make a lasting contribution to the life of our city. The individuals celebrated tonight have inspired others by their work for inclusion and wellbeing. Their acts of public service are matched by their attitude and values, exemplifying London as a welcoming place for people of all faiths and beliefs.

Hagir Ahmed

First responder to Grenfell Fire Disaster

Hagir was instrumental in transforming the Westway Sports Centre into a temporary Crisis Centre to accommodate survivors, bereaved families and affected communities. She co-ordinated services with multi-agencies and assisted the NHS dealing with traumatised survivors to set up a safe haven within the hotel for survivors, residents and professionals to use whilst dealing with the bereaved and devastated community. Her work supporting this community continues today.

Jaspreet Kaur

Jaspreet Kaur, better known as Behind the Netra for her poetry, is an award-winning Spoken Word Artist and History teacher from East London focused on sharing her thoughts on gender issues, mental health stigma, historical topics and positive social change. Jaspreet actively works with national governments, corporations and charities alike, such as TED, Westminster Interfaith Council and Action for Children, using her poetry to inspire and drive change.

Howard Taylor

Grenfell United Coordinator

Grenfell United was formed in the very early days from survivors going around to the support centres and making lists of those that got out, trying to come together to look after each other in absence of official support. Howard, who worked at the local organisation The ClementJames Centre, supported this group by linking them to major decision makers and helping them gain a voice in the aftermath of the tragedy. He now works as Grenfell United's sole staff member.

Lindsey Macfarlane

Youth Development Worker, Croydon Circuit of Methodist Churches

Lindsey has for the last 15 years worked tirelessly with local communities. She works predominantly to support positive youth activities amongst eight Methodist Churches and is also the Lead of the Youth Localities East Network – a network of statutory and community organisations enabling youth work across the Croydon Borough. Lindsey is a passionate supporter of inclusion, diversity and connecting people up, and always works towards multicultural and inter-faith inclusivity.

Mfa Zaman

Remona Aly

Remona is a journalist, broadcaster and commentator with a focus on faith, lifestyle and identity. Remona's work benefits two main groups. First, it helps people from a non-religious background to better understand how religious people apply their faith to their lives in a creative and human way. Second, her work benefits Londoners from different religions, and particularly Muslims, by presenting nuanced viewpoints about Muslims in London and the UK.

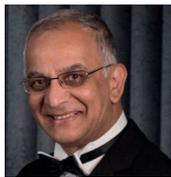

Umar Mahmood Qureshi

Umar's work has positively affected thousands of people at grassroots and strategic levels. He has organised countless events to support interfaith engagement, building trust and leading to strategic level dialogue between community leaders to tackle faith issues and to come together at times of need. Through liaison with statutory bodies, such as the Metropolitan Police, on behalf of the Muslim community, he has helped develop mutual trust; promoting regular dialogue, interaction and initiatives.

Tara Khare

Tara, a retired practice manager, was born and brought up in India and arrived in the UK in 1971. She has for years worked tirelessly for interfaith and multicultural activities in Waltham Forest. She became a voluntary ESL home tutor in 1976. She is a founding member of Waltham Forest Women's Network, the founder of Waltham Forest Women's Interfaith Network and Faith Friendship Club. She is very passionate about interfaith and cultural integration, community cohesion and working towards peace and harmony in the local community.

Vinod M Kotecha

Hindu Bereavement Committee

Mr Kotecha, a member of LCNL & Lions Club and Trustee of Asian Foundation for Help & Lohana Charity Foundation, has dedicated time on a voluntary basis serving the community for over 20 years. He conducts funeral ceremonies, runs a spiritual centre in Wembley and is very active in supporting charities, raising funds for Cancer Research, NHS & Moorfields Eye hospitals, Women Empowerment, Weddings for the under privileged families and providing food to hospitals.

Harris Bokhari

Naz Legacy Interfaith Iftar

Harris founded the Naz Legacy Annual Youth Interfaith Iftars 3 years ago to bring young people representing all of the boroughs of London, of all faiths and none to meet each other for the first time and engage in social action. By engaging those at the top of religious and political institutions, Harris has enabled young people to also share their ideas with those in office on how these communities can work cohesively.

Eddie Musonda, Natasha Sharmah and Trudian Francis

The Balham Pathfinders & Adventures Club

For over twenty years volunteers have successfully lead the Balham Pathfinders & Adventures Club. For the past five years the club has grown under the leadership of the current Director - Eddie and joint secretaries Trudian and Natasha. Supporting over 15 adult volunteers they all have been dedicated to inspiring and supporting a group of 40 children to be good citizens, live a holistic life, develop spiritual and physical well-being and work for their local community.

MAYOR OF LONDON

CREDITS

The London Faith & Belief Community Awards would not have been possible without the continued support and guidance of Deputy Lieutenants who sit on Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith.

Particular thanks must be given to Bushra Nasir CBE DL, who sat as Chair on the steering committee from the inception of this event and also acted as Chair of the Judging Panel. Thanks must also be given to Dr Sheila Gewolb DL, Rev Nims Obunge DL and Babulal Sethia DL who offered their time and expertise as key members of the steering committee.

We are grateful for the support of Sir Kenneth Olisa OBE, Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London and Dr David Dangoor DL, Chair of Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant of Greater London's Council on Faith.

Thank you to the Judging Panel Bushra Nasir CBE DL, Dr Mustafa Abu Lisan DL, Dr Sheila Gewolb DL, Phil Champain, Hannah Taylor and Tim Mortimer.

Thank you to The Greater London Lieutenancy office for its invaluable support, especially to Mr Joe Baker Esq (Clerk), Mrs Yvette Atori (Deputy Clerk), Molly Lynch (Assistant) and Colleen Harris DL.

Thank you to the Royal Society of Medicine for providing the venue and hospitality for tonight's event at the beautiful One Wimpole Street.

Thank you to Rob Ryan from Deuce Films (deucefilms.com) for sharing the 'my city' film and Jaspreet Kaur (behindthenetra.com) for your performance tonight.

Thank you to all who nominated projects for the awards. Without you this event would not have been possible. Particular thanks must be given to:

Thank you to the F&BF staff and interns for all your support in making the event a success.

Who we are

The Faith & Belief Forum has worked for over 20 years to build good relations between people of all faiths and beliefs, and to create a society where difference is celebrated.

We create spaces in schools, universities, workplaces and the wider community where people can engage with questions of belief and identity and meet people different from themselves.

Our inclusive approach welcomes everyone – whether you're an Atheist, Buddhist, Christian, Hindu, Jew, Muslim, Zoroastrian, or identify with any other belief. The Faith & Belief Forum believes that intolerance has no place in our communities and that diversity adds value to society.

How you can support us

At the Faith & Belief Forum we believe that everyone should have the chance to interact positively with people from different backgrounds – one day everyone will feel able to do it, and with your help and our support, that day will come sooner.
